The study consists of an initial visit followed by 3 yearly follow ups. There is no medication involved, only blood samples will be collected along with demographics and medical history information. This information will be used to further develop cancer screening options.

In addition to helping in the development of new cancer screening options, qualified participants may receive $200 after every blood draw (50 mL of blood) provided.

Requirements to Participate

- Women and men 45–85 years of age
- Have an upcoming colonoscopy for colorectal cancer screening
